

Class HttpClient

java.lang.Object └─ HttpClient

```
public class HttpClient extends java.lang.Object
```

Class for retrieveing weather info from openweathermap by requesting the JSON formatted information.

Author:
Eric Bachmeier

Constructor Summary

HttpClient(java.lang.String location, java.lang.String t)
HttpClient constructor which retrieves the weather data from openweathermap api

Method Summary

java.lang.String	getData () Getter method to retrieve the data from the Http request
------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Methods inherited from class java.lang.Object

`equals, getClass, hashCode, notify, notifyAll, toString, wait, wait, wait`

Constructor Detail

HttpClient

```
public HttpClient(java.lang.String location, java.lang.String t)
```

HttpClient constructor which retrieves the weather data from openweathermap api

Parameters: location - String of the city in which to retrieve data for t - String for type of weather call to precede with (c, s, l) current, short, or long

getData

```
public java.lang.String getData()
```

Getter method to retrieve the data from the Http request

Returns:
data String of weather information from openweathermap call